Main Bio

Scott Wiseman's practice focuses on commercial litigation matters. He has represented clients through all phases of litigation—including pre-litigation, discovery, depositions, motion practice, alternative dispute resolution, trial, and appeal. Scott has experience managing a vast array of commercial litigation cases from inception to resolution, including:

- Corporate and contractual disputes—such as general breach of contract, corporate management and shareholder disputes, and distributorship and direct sales issues.
- Real estate disputes—including land use, municipal enforcement, quiet title, leasing issues, and real estate purchase contracts disputes.
- Employment disputes—including non-compete and post-employment restrictive covenant, misappropriation of trade secrets, discrimination, and wrongful termination.
- Miscellaneous lawsuits—such as legal malpractice defense, attorney disciplinary proceedings, bad faith insurance disputes, and various pro bono representations.

Prior to joining Snell & Wilmer, Scott was a litigation associate with the law firm of Ballard Spahr LLP. He previously was a judicial intern for the Honorable Jill N. Parrish of the Utah Supreme Court.
