THE AMERICAN LUNG ASSOCIATION ELECTS
SNELL & WILMER PARTNER BRAD CAHOON TO REGIONAL BOARD

Salt Lake City, UT (October 19, 2009) — Snell & Wilmer L.L.P. is proud to announce that Partner Brad Cahoon has been elected to the board of directors of the American Lung Association Southwest Region covering Utah, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, and Nevada. He also serves on the American Lung Association of Utah board and is past chairman of that organization.

Now in its second century, the American Lung Association is the leading organization working to save lives, improve lung health and prevent lung disease. According to Cahoon, the American Lung Association has many programs and strategies for fighting lung disease. “The organization is a leader in teaching children to understand and manage asthma, and also is a leading advocate for eliminating use of tobacco – especially in teenagers, and is the major public advocate for clean air, as well as the chief source of information and public education on the health hazards of air pollution,” Cahoon said.

The American Lung Association also has been instrumental in persuading Congress to increase federal funding for lung-related biomedical research, as well as domestic health programs such as tuberculosis control activities.

Cahoon is a partner in the firm’s Salt Lake City office, representing a variety of clients in all aspects of environmental, zoning, land use, natural resources, and water law, including litigation, administrative and regulatory law, and government relations. He has been recognized by The Best Lawyers in America® since 2007. He received his juris doctor from the University of Utah College of Law and his bachelors degree from Brigham Young University.
