SNELL & WILMER ADDS TODD KOMAROMY TO INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PRACTICE GROUP

PHOENIX (November 13, 2009) — Snell & Wilmer L.L.P is pleased to announce that Todd Komaromy has joined the firm's Intellectual Property Practice Group.

Komaromy's prior experience includes intellectual property counseling, patent and trademark prosecution, intellectual property litigation, and technology licensing. He has prosecuted patents related to electrical, mechanical, software, chemical and business method matters. Komaromy's broad technical experience includes prosecuting patents related to missile defense systems, medical therapy devices, coaxial connectors, telemetry systems and devices, radiation hardened circuits, semiconductor testing, weapon accessories, and antenna systems. His business experience includes advising local utilities on technical and regulatory issues.

Komaromy will be working with a group of attorneys whose experience ranges from Fortune 500 to start-up business clients to develop, protect, and enforce intellectual property rights.

Komaromy received his B.S. in Electrical and Computer Engineering in 2002 from the Ohio State University. He then went on to earn his M.B.A. from the University of Phoenix in 2005, followed by his J.D. from Arizona State University, Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law in 2008.
