SNELL & WILMER OFFICE PARTICIPATES IN NON-PROFIT CLOTHING DRIVE

ORANGE COUNTY (July 1, 2011) – Snell & Wilmer’s Orange County office recently co-sponsored and participated in the Suits For A Cause clothing drive to benefit Women Helping Women/Men2Work (WHW).

WHW is a non-profit organization that helps low-income individuals attain economic self-sufficiency through employment success. Originally founded over 16 years ago to prepare women for the workplace after escaping a violent relationship, WHW has grown by leaps and bounds to include services for women and men of all backgrounds. With referrals from over 200 non-profit organizations, schools and government agencies, WHW has become a fixture in the Orange County community for low-income women and men by providing resume assistance, job placement workshops, computer training and interview skill building. The shopping experience for professional interview-appropriate clothing completes the full-package of the “employment success program,” which is the heart of the organization and the foundation of the Suits For A Cause clothing drive.

“WHW is overjoyed that so many law firms are participating in this clothing drive,” said Janie Wolicki, WHW’s executive director. “The donated clothing will provide over one hundred individuals with a professional wardrobe, which is the first step to obtaining employment.” Erin Denniston, an associate with Snell & Wilmer, sits on the board of WHW and helped coordinate the drive in the firm’s Orange County office. WHW collected thousands of items from the event that will undoubtedly assist many who are in need throughout the community.
