BROWER ELECTED MASTER OF AMERICAN INN OF COURT

LAS VEGAS (August 26, 2011) – Snell & Wilmer is pleased to announce that Greg Brower, a partner in the firm's Reno and Las Vegas locations, was recently designated a Master of the Bruce R. Thompson Inn of the American Inns of Court.

The American Inns of Court is a national organization designed to improve the skills, professionalism, and ethics of attorneys and judges. Masters are judges and lawyers who have demonstrated superior character, ability, and competence as trial or appellate advocates.

Prior to joining Snell & Wilmer, Brower served in a variety of senior government posts. From 2003 to 2004, he was with the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, D.C. He later served at the U.S. Government Printing Office (GPO), first as Inspector General and then as General Counsel. In 2007, he was appointed as U.S. Attorney for the District of Nevada by President George W. Bush and served in that capacity until September of 2009. Currently, Brower's practice is focused on complex civil and white collar criminal litigation, as well as corporate investigations and administrative law.
