OF COLORADO BIOSCIENCE ASSOCIATION'S GOVERNMENT RELATIONS AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

DENVER (February 10, 2012) – Snell & Wilmer is pleased to announce that Daniel S. Wittenberg, a partner in its Denver office, has been named co-chair of the Government Relations and Public Affairs Committee for the Colorado BioScience Association (CBSA). Wittenberg is a current member of the CBSA board of directors.

The CBSA is a not-for-profit organization providing services and support for Colorado's growing biosciences industry. With more than 350 members, CBSA actively works to promote the growth of the industry by advocating for a better business environment, growing the state's biotech workforce, fighting for policies that support a strong bioscience industry in the state and speaking with a single voice on behalf of the industry. The Government Relations and Public Affairs Committee is specifically responsible for advocacy, outreach and education to Colorado's elected officials, state and federal governmental agencies and the media.

"I am honored to serve as co-chair of the CBSA Government Relations and Public Affairs Committee," said Wittenberg. "I am deeply committed to the biosciences industry and have represented life science and medical technology companies throughout the western United States for almost two decades. I look forward to working with our extended team to meet our 2012 objectives."

Wittenberg was also recently accepted into the Leadership Boulder County, an annual program facilitated by the Boulder Chamber designed to develop leaders who are informed, involved and concerned about the issues, challenges and initiatives affecting Boulder County. The Boulder Chamber selects only 35 individuals to take part in the leadership program every year, choosing those whom they believe have the greatest potential to make an impact within the community.

In his legal practice, Wittenberg represents medical device, pharmaceutical, biotechnology and consumer product manufacturers in product liability litigation as well as counsels these companies on risk avoidance/management strategies, recalls and regulatory matters, including those involving the Food and Drug Administration and the Consumer Product Safety Commission. He has attained certification as a Global Regulatory Affairs Compliance Professional and has served as national counsel for major medical device manufacturing concerns and as regional counsel in mass tort cases. He also works with entities in technology transfer and intellectual property matters including university technology commercialization, litigation, licensing and agreement negotiations. Wittenberg also represents companies in commercial litigation. Representative clients also include renewable/clean energy companies, such as a leading manufacturer of solar cells, panels, inverters and imaging detectors, as well as one of North America's largest wind energy companies.
