LMG NAMES SNELL & WILMER PARTNER DANIEL WITTENBERG AS “LIFE SCIENCES STAR”

DENVER (June 20, 2012) - Snell & Wilmer, a full-service law firm based in Denver, is pleased to announce partner Daniel Wittenberg was named a “Life Sciences Star” by LMG Life Sciences. The publication serves as a resource for legal expertise in the life sciences and pharmaceutical industry. Wittenberg has been nominated based on his reputation as one of the country’s most distinguished life sciences practitioners. He counsels Life Sciences, Medical Technology and Consumer Product companies, both in litigation and non-litigation settings.

“I am honored to be recognized as a ‘Life Sciences Star’ by LMG Life Sciences,” said Wittenberg. “My legal practice has enabled me to work with many of the leading and emerging companies, organizations and influencers in the life sciences and medical technology fields. During the course of my career I have been privileged to represent medical device and pharmaceutical companies on both a local and national level and look forward to the opportunity of continuing to be of assistance to the industry in the future.”

Wittenberg represents medical device, pharmaceutical, biotechnology and consumer-product manufacturers, providing legal expertise in product liability issues, risk management strategies, recalls, and regulatory matters, including those involving the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). Wittenberg has attained a certification as a Global Regulatory Affairs Compliance Professional (GRACP), and has served as national and regional counsel for major medical device manufacturing concerns in mass tort cases. He also represents companies in commercial litigation, serving clients in the renewable and clean energy industry. His clients include manufacturers of solar cells, panels, inverters and imaging detectors, as well as leading wind energy companies. In addition, he has worked with entities in technology transfer and intellectual property matters including university technology commercialization, litigation, and licensing and agreement negotiations.

Wittenberg is a staunch supporter of the life science and medical technology industry and is actively involved in such organizations within the Colorado community. He serves on the board of directors for the Colorado BioScience Association and serves as a co-chair of the Governmental Affairs and Public Policy committee of that organization. He also participated in the 2012 Leadership Boulder County Program, an initiative that helps develop informed and involved leaders that are concerned about issues relevant to Boulder County. Wittenberg frequently contributes to American Bar Association publications and regularly speaks at state and national conferences.
