NOVOGRADAC'S NEW MARKETS TAX CREDIT CONFERENCE WELCOMES SNELL
& WILMER PARTNER MARC SCHULTZ AS PANELIST

PHOENIX (January 28, 2013) – Snell & Wilmer is pleased to announce that Marc Schultz, a partner in the Phoenix office, was recently a panelist at the New Markets Tax Credit Conference in San Diego where he discussed issues related to developing mixed-use projects.

The New Markets Tax Credit Conference is a national conference hosted by Novogradac & Company and was attended by over 600 individuals including all of the major financial institutions. The New Markets Tax Credit program was recently awarded $7 billion of allocation authority as part of the Fiscal Cliff legislation and is responsible for providing financing to many projects being developed within the United States.

Marc Schultz is a partner in the Tax Practice Group with particular experience in representing developers and investors in transactions using tax credit financing. Schultz's practice is also concentrated in project finance, and complex transactions involving partnerships and limited liability companies, tax exempt entities, and real property. Schultz currently chairs Snell & Wilmer's Tax Credit Finance Group and co-chairs both Snell & Wilmer's Fund Formation and Investment Group and Snell & Wilmer's Affordable Housing and Community Development Group.
