

SNELL & WILMER ATTORNEY SARA J. AGNE APPOINTED TO THE STATE BAR OF ARIZONA CIVIL PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE COMMITTEE

PHOENIX (June 18, 2014) – Snell & Wilmer is pleased to announce that attorney Sara J. Agne has been appointed to the State Bar of Arizona Civil Practice and Procedure Committee. Her three-year term began June 16, 2014. Agne joins attorney Andrew M. Jacobs from the firm’s Tucson office as a Committee member.

The State Bar of Arizona has standing and ad hoc committees to advise and serve the State Bar by overseeing programs, addressing current issues, and making recommendations about legal services and the administration of justice. The mission of the Civil Practice and Procedure Committee is to study and make recommendations on proposals and/or issues involving the various rules impacting civil practice as submitted by the Bar or third parties. In addition, it prepares petitions seeking amendments and comments to third-party petitions as deemed necessary.

“I am truly honored to have been selected to serve on the Civil Practice and Procedure Committee,” Agne said. “From an early point in my career, I have been fascinated by the Arizona Supreme Court’s rulemaking process and grateful for the opportunities the Bar and the public have to participate in it. As a result, the Committee’s mission is particularly appealing to me.”

At Snell & Wilmer, Agne’s practice is concentrated in healthcare and government relations matters, including compliance and regulatory issues, federal and state legislative matters, and professional liability defense. Her experience includes appellate matters, utility and environmental matters, commercial litigation, criminal defense, licensure board matters and media law. In addition, Agne maintains a Twitter feed, @transplantlaw, which focuses on organ and transplant law and news.

Agne is a graduate of Arizona State University and the University of Michigan Law School.
