Announcing ...

ADAM TULLY TO JOIN THE NEVADA SUPREME COURT ACCESS TO JUSTICE COMMISSION

LAS VEGAS (October 12, 2017) – Snell & Wilmer is pleased to announce that Adam Tully, an attorney in the firm's Las Vegas office, was recently appointed to the Nevada Supreme Court Access to Justice Commission as a State Bar of Nevada Young Lawyers Section representative. Tully will begin serving in November 2017, and his term will expire July 1, 2021.

In 2006, the Nevada Supreme Court created a permanent Access to Justice Commission to promote equal access to civil justice. The Nevada Access to Justice Commission is comprised of 18 members and co-chaired by Justices James Hardesty and Michael Douglas. The Commission works to improve the ability of all Nevadans, particularly those of modest means, to access legal resources in Nevada by improving the delivery and funding of legal service programs, including pro bono and self-help services. The Commission is supported by its Director, Brad Lewis, who is employed by the State Bar of Nevada.

"I am honored to begin serving on the Access to Justice Commission," said Tully. "This state has a lot of excellent organizations working hard to address access to justice disparities. I am excited to help those organizations grow, and to help new programs and policies get off the ground."

At Snell and Wilmer, Tully focuses his practice in commercial litigation. In 2017, Tully was recognized by Nevada Business Magazine's Legal Elite as a Best Up and Coming Attorney. He clerked for Hon. Justice Ron D. Parraguirre in the Nevada Supreme Court from 2014 to 2016 and was a Judicial Extern to Judge Robert C. Jones in the U.S. District Court for Nevada in 2012. From 2009 to 2011, Tully worked for the Legal Aid Center of Southern Nevada. Tully earned his J.D., magna cum laude, from University of Nevada, Las Vegas, William S. Boyd School of Law and his B.A., cum laude, from Boston University.

The Nevada offices of Snell & Wilmer serve a wide range of clients in the following practice areas: civil and commercial litigation; administrative law; real estate transactions; finance; corporate and tax; bankruptcy; employment and labor; and construction law.
