PHOENIX ASSOCIATE BENJAMIN A. NUCCI SELECTED AS YOUNG LAWYERS DIVISION LIAISON FOR STATE BAR OF ARIZONA'S INTERNATIONAL LAW SECTION

PHOENIX (August 14, 2018) – Snell & Wilmer is pleased to announce that Phoenix associate Benjamin A. Nucci has been selected as the Young Lawyers Division (YLD) Liaison on the Executive Committee for the State Bar of Arizona's International Law Section. As the YLD liaison, he will sit on both executive councils with the objective of furthering inter-group activities and cross marketing.

Formed in 1933, the State Bar of Arizona is a non-profit organization that operates under the supervision of the Arizona Supreme Court. The Bar regulates approximately 18,500 active attorneys and provides education and development programs for the legal profession and the public. The YLD of the State Bar is a community and professional service organization specifically created for new lawyers who are under 37 years of age or have been in practice for five years or less. Currently, the YLD has approximately 4,000 active members in the state, which constitutes nearly 28 percent of the total in-state active Bar membership.

The International Law Section of the Bar, aims to further the development of the fields of private and public international law; to study the impact of the laws of foreign countries, the United States and its states on the fields of private and public international law; to promote throughout the state of Arizona the education of members of the Bar and the public on new developments and problems within the fields of private and public international law by sponsoring meetings, institutes, and conferences; and by preparing, sponsoring and publishing legal writings.

"I am honored to be selected as the YLD liaison on the Executive Committee for the State Bar of Arizona's International Law Section," said Nucci. "I am looking forward to an exciting year ahead!"

At Snell & Wilmer, Nucci's practice is concentrated in labor and employment law, immigration and Native American affairs. He focuses primarily in the area of employment litigation, including representing employers against claims alleging discrimination, retaliation and wrongful termination matters involving state and federal wage and hour laws, restrictive covenants and various contract issues. Nucci also represents employers in all aspects of labor relations, including union avoidance and preparing for and defending against unfair labor practice charges. He routinely counsels employers regarding workplace policies and procedures, and advises them on compliance with applicable labor and employment laws and regulations. Nucci is a frequent speaker, and manages Snell & Wilmer's Labor and Employment blog.

Nucci is also a member of the firm's immigration practice group, and assists clients in obtaining both immigrant and non-immigrant visas. He has experience advising large and small corporations on nonimmigrant petitions, family and employment based permanent resident processes, and adjustment of status. In addition, Nucci counsels companies on a range of workplace issues, including I-9 compliance, E-Verify best practices and avoidance of discrimination claims based on alienage and citizenship status.
