DENVER PARTNER ELIZABETH WYLIE APPOINTED TO COLORADO WOMEN'S CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

DENVER (March 12, 2020) – Snell & Wilmer is pleased to announce that Denver partner Elizabeth Wylie has been appointed to the Board of Directors for the Colorado Women's Chamber of Commerce (CWCC). The CWCC is one of the largest women's chambers of commerce in the country, with businesses and individual members representing a variety of for-profit and non-profit organizations. The mission of the CWCC is to provide opportunities and visibility for women in business through relationship development, education, mentorship, partnership and alliances.

Elizabeth Wylie

"I am honored to be joining the CWCC Board of Directors," said Wylie. "I look forward to working with fellow board members to continue to offer innovative programming and resources that help women grow personally and professionally."

CWCC was founded in 1988 by a group of nine women looking to give all women a voice in business and to provide resources to help them succeed. The organization has since grown to a network of more than 1,500 members representing more than 425 companies ranging from small businesses to Fortune 500 companies.

At Snell & Wilmer, Wylie focuses on business and employment litigation involving commercial disputes and employment matters. She has represented clients across multiple industries, including food service, health care, construction, real estate and manufacturing. Wylie has represented clients at all stages of litigation, including administrative proceedings and appeals, seeking or defending a temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunction, and trial or arbitration. She is involved with the Women's Foundation of Colorado, serving as co-chair of the organization's Power of Extended Philanthropy (PEP) Committee, and she was recently named a Law Week Colorado Lawyer of the Year.
