Main Bio

Anthony Merrill's wide range of experience in complex disputes enables him to bring unique problem-solving approaches to clients. He assists clients in obtaining insurance coverage for policyholders on catastrophic commercial claims. While Anthony has extensive experience in latent or long-tail environmental, property damage and bodily injury claims, he also represents clients in connection with civil disputes involving cyber insurance coverage, D&O claims, large loss property and fire claims, insolvent insurance carriers, reinsurance, specialty risk lines, retrospective premiums and data security. Anthony also counsels and represents major insurance brokerage firms in a wide variety of litigated matters alleging breach of fiduciary duty, fraud, negligence, and other alleged errors and omissions, in relation to environmental, commercial, and professional liability insurance policies.

In addition, Anthony regularly consults and defends clients on matters regarding infectious disease outbreaks, including waterborne and airborne pathogens, and pandemic preparation.
