Main Bio

Alex Gill serves as Associate General Counsel for Snell & Wilmer. Alex provides counsel and advice to the firm and its members on matters involving loss prevention, risk management and firm claims, policy, strategy and transactional decisions, firm contracts, data security compliance, conflicts, employment and personnel issues, ethics and compliance training, and other legal or sensitive matters.

Alex has over 12 years of experience practicing management-side labor and employment law. She has represented and advised employers on all aspects of employment law including state and federal laws on discrimination, harassment, retaliation, wage and hour compliance, wrongful termination, restrictive covenants, unfair competition, trade secrets, contracts, and various workplace tort claims. Alex also advised clients on a variety of legal issues impacting employers including employee hiring, discipline, and termination, policies and procedures, employee handbooks, disability accommodations, drug testing, leave requests and requirements, employment law training, and employment agreements and contracts.

Alex's litigation experience includes cases ranging from single-plaintiff cases to multi-state class and collective actions. She has defended employers before administrative agencies, state and federal trial and appellate courts, and in mediation and arbitration proceedings.
