Main Bio

Patricia Brum, a Brazilian native, is a business litigator with extensive experience representing companies (both large and small) in cross-border disputes and consumer class action matters. Prior to becoming a lawyer, Patricia worked for more than 15 years as an international trade specialist with a variety of public organizations, as well as several private companies. In that capacity, she traveled to over 40 countries and lived in Mexico, Argentina, Canada, and China until she ultimately relocated to the United States in 2002. Patricia draws upon her diverse and multi-cultural background to strategically help companies resolve their cross-border disputes.

Patricia's practice is also focused on representing companies in the defense of consumer class actions, including claims asserted under the Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA), Fair Debt Collection Practices and Deceptive Trade practices statutes. Amongst her clients are some of America's largest financial institutions.

Patricia is a strong advocate for the LGBTQ community. She serves as the co-chair of Snell & Wilmer's LGBTQ+ affinity group (SNELLGBTQ), and she sits on the board of the USC Lambda LGBT Alumni Association where she has helped raise over $500,000 for scholarships to LGBTQ+ students. Patricia is also committed to fostering creative thinking in children in underserved communities through art education. She is an officer and board member of Inner City Arts, an organization that has been nationally recognized for its work with at-risk youth in Skid Row, Los Angeles.

In addition to co-chairing SNELLGBTQ, Patricia is the co-editor of the firm's Global Connection Newsletter. She is a member of the Brazil California Chamber of Commerce and is fluent in Portuguese and Spanish. Patricia completed her undergraduate degree in International Relations and International Business at the Universidade de Brasilia in Brazil. She completed her MBA at the University of Southern California and her JD at Southwestern University School of Law.
