Main Bio

Ben Reeves focuses on delivering practical advice to clients facing complex commercial disputes in distressed situations. Since joining the firm in 2007, he has gained substantial experience litigating: (i) interests in real property; (ii) creditor rights and remedies in state, federal, and bankruptcy courts; (iii) the rights, powers, and duties of receivers; and (iv) disputes amongst and between business partners. In particular, Ben has extensive experience with commercial landlord-tenant relationships, foreclosure and trustee's sales, guarantor and deficiency actions, the enforcement of pre- and post-judgment remedies, complex commercial bankruptcies, and receivership actions involving secured property and/or equity interests. Ben also has relevant experience representing beneficiaries and personal representatives in probate court. Ben prides himself on his ability to provide timely and sound counsel to clients navigating through complex problems.
