Main Bio

Paul Shakespear litigates and tries cases in a variety of areas, including commercial litigation, energy and utility law and defending product liability matters, throughout Utah and Nevada.

Representative Experience

Product Liability and Catastrophic Injury Defense

- Paul has represented manufacturers and distributors of a wide range of products, including motor vehicles, ATVs, industrial equipment and cleaning supplies, food and other restaurant supplies, construction supplies, and pharmaceuticals and medical devices. He has handled asbestos and toxic tort litigation for a variety of clients. Paul has also defended clients in catastrophic injury cases arising from premises liability and other types of negligence.

Real Estate and Construction

- Paul represents project owners and developers in real estate and construction disputes involving commercial lease rates, quality of construction, and a 20-lot luxury home project. Paul has represented real estate agents and brokerage companies, developers of luxury properties, and owners involved in disputes with contractors.

Natural Resources, Energy and Utility Law

- Paul has represented project owners and developers in defending against challenges brought by NIMBY groups, demonstrating compliance with NEPA requirements and conditional use permits for mining and utility clients, in addition to working with clients on interconnection requests, regulatory matters, and expanding or maintaining easements and leased rights of way.

Contracts

- Paul represents clients in all types of contract disputes, including software as a service licenses, partnership agreements, operating agreements, non-competition and non-solicitation, insurance, and real estate agreements, for clients from a wide variety of industries.

Financial Services

- Paul has represented several financial institutions when sued by customers and non-customers for alleged involvement in wire and other types of fraud, aiding and abetting breaches of fiduciary duty, improper loan underwriting, breaches of loan agreements, and wrongful foreclosure.

Insurance

- In addition to defending a variety of insureds under insurance policies for errors and omissions, comprehensive general liability, property, and title insurance, Paul also represents insurers in coverage disputes and claims of bad faith liability.

Corporate and Partnership Control Disputes

- For limited liability companies, partnerships and intra-family disputes, Paul represents clients involved in struggles for control of assets, shares and voting rights. This representation includes advancing or defending claims regarding fiduciary duties, operating and partnership agreements, and non-competition and non-solicitation.
