Main Bio

Jenny Hua's practice is concentrated in commercial litigation and appellate litigation. Jenny has handled a wide range of business litigation matters, such as defense of statutory violations, including consumer protection statutes, such as the Unfair Competition Law (UCL), False Advertising Law (FAL), Consumer Legal Remedies Act (CLRA) and the Unruh Act; environmental statutes, such as National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), Clean Air Act, California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and the Hazardous Substance Account Act; franchise statutes, such as the Franchise Investment Law and Franchise Relations Act, and many others, including the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO). Jenny has also developed a keen interest in arbitration, including how to enforce arbitration provisions, as well as bringing and defending against anti-SLAPP motions.

Jenny uses creative strategies to help resolve cases early and has brought dispositive motions, including demurrers, motions to dismiss, motions for summary judgment and post-judgment motions. She has also counseled trial teams in preserving the record and drafting jury instructions and motions-in-limine in preparation for appeal. Jenny has handled dozens of appellate cases and filed briefs, writs and petitions in the California appellate courts, California Supreme Court, Ninth Circuit and US Supreme Court.
